

About Creative Alley

Creative Alley Productions is an independent motion picture and television production company that still believes in the word “independent.” Working outside the “fat folds” of the Hollywood studio system, numerous screenplays have been completed that range in budget and genre from high action thrillers and horror films to hilarious comedies and intense dramas.

Without having to write under the studios’ guns, Creative Alley has been able to create screenplays that are uniquely different in content, style, and storyline. The success of Creative Alley is largely based on the belief that making films is really the pursuit of art and the expression of individualism. For that reason alone, many successful and recognized actors, producers, and directors have lent their talent, expertise, and valuable time to be a part of the Creative Alley experience.

Remember...Life is too short to make bad movies!
